Dear Mr. Mucchetti;

I am writing regarding Sisu, Integrated Early Learning's interest in the CVS Health acquisition of Aetna. Attached is a copy of a letter sent to the Georgia Office of Insurance and Safety Fire Commissioner during their consideration of the transaction.

I wanted you to be aware of this communication and to reiterate our continued support for the merger, which we believe will be in the best interest of patients and consumers.

Thank you for your consideration of our views.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Ralph T. Hudgens
Office of Insurance and Safety Fire Commissioner
[REDACTED]

Dear Commissioner Hudgens:

For years I have watched hardworking Georgians struggle with the costs of health insurance. Too many of us are forced out of the healthcare market and become crushed under the out-of-pocket costs associated with even trivial visits to the doctor. I believe that the merger between CVS and Aetna will bring Georgia's working families a step closer to the vital health services that they so desperately need.

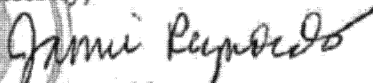

In my time working with Sisu, Integrated Family Learning (formerly Challenged Child and Friends, Inc.), I have witnessed firsthand the difficulties that children with special needs must endure because affordable healthcare is simply out of their families' reach. Sisu's work revolves around the wellbeing of children with disabilities and their typical peers, and helping them access adequate health services is a prime concern for our organization. Some of the children we serve have conditions that require continual monitoring, and their medical bills can be staggering. Many families are put in a situation where they must choose between their child's health and paying for daily necessities. The CVS/Aetna merger will optimize the healthcare process by joining two companies who occupy important spots on the health services supply chain. This merger will cut healthcare costs to the benefit of Georgia's working families.

Sisu's relationship with CVS extends back to our time as a Pharmacy Charitable Trust Recipient, and we applaud the steps they are taking to better the American healthcare system. Our organization strives to foster the growth of Georgia's children, and the CVS/Aetna merger is an opportunity to diminish the burden that these children and their families must face.

Once you have examined all the facts, I hope you will also give your support. It at least deserves a chance given the current state of healthcare, and it could end up being a gamechanger if it works well.

Thank you for your consideration and your hard work to improve the lives of Georgians.

Sincerely,

Jamie Reynolds
